As Chief of Dermatology at a socialized medical hospital Dr. Golden changed the Derm Clinic's long established policy of not seeing patients unless they had a physician referral. He was a strong advocate for the black marine with pseudofolliculitis for whom shaving on a daily basis was detrimental. He was outspoken to the higher command in order for the patient to be treated with respect. His fitness report consisted of a single word. "Outspoken"

Private dermatology practice Sterling Heights, 1974 to present.

Chief of Dermatology William Beaumont Hospital-Troy. 1981 to 2002.

Dr. Golden has six children. First wife died in 1982. Second marriage ended by divorce. Re-married 2005, and moved to Rochester Hills.

Dr. Golden's long time interest in politics was awakened by the abusive behavior his family received from the legal system during the process of divorce and follow-up proceedings. He is appalled by Michigan's long slide to the bottom. He has written a number of articles about those events and his proposed solutions.

He wants to take an active role in helping the citizens of Michigan improve their lot.

Ted Golden, M.D.
